

Approved First Aid Training Courses: April 1, 2012 – June 30, 2012

Please Note:

Under the Trade Investment and Labour Mobility Agreement (TILMA) with British Columbia and the Agreement on Internal Trade (AIT) with other jurisdictions, Alberta has committed that its measures, including its statutes and regulations, not create barriers to trade, investment and labour mobility between Alberta and other parts of Canada.

The First Aid Training approval process in Alberta has been revised as a result of these two Agreements. If a worker has current and approved first aid certification in another Canadian jurisdiction, it is automatically recognized in Alberta as long as the workplace first aider is competent in applying the legal requirements for first aid in Alberta. For the legal requirements that workplace first aiders need to know in Alberta, see the publication “Workplace First Aiders and Legal Requirements” (FA011).

Not all provinces and territories review and approve first aid courses for workplaces, so not all courses are considered to be approved. For information and links to the different jurisdictions’ approved first aid training, refer to the Canadian Jurisdiction’s Approved First Aid Training Links table listed below or see the links in the publication “First Aid in the Workplace: Trade, Investment and Labour Mobility Agreement and Agreement on Internal Trade” (FA016).
